COHABITATION.

Two UNSUCCESSIVE attempts at The Supreme Court Sustains burglary were reported on Sunday Judge Zane.

DECISION RENDERED MONDAY.

Justices Miller and Field Dissent The Opinion of the First-Named Judge.

plaintiff in error, against the United fourth the scenery, the people play-States. Cannon was indicted under the ing the different characters, unless we plaintiff in error, against the United Edmunds act for un!awful cohabitation with more than one woman. The defendant objected to the giving of any evidence on the ground that the indictment did not allege that he was a male person, nor that cohabitation was with the women as wives. The objection was overruled and a verdict of guilty returned, and the defendant sentenced to pay a fine of $300, and to be im-prisoned for six months, and to be further imprisoned till the payment of the fine.

The principal question was: The The principal question was: The proper construction of Section 3, depending on the meaning of the word "cohabit," as used in it, and Judge Biatchford, in his opinion, says: "The court properly charged-the jury that the detendant was to be found guilty, if he lived in the same house with the three women and ate at their respective tables one-third of his time, or thereabouts, and held out to the world by abouts, and held out to the world by his language, or conduct, all as his wives, and that it was not necessary it should be shewn that he and the three women, or either of them, occupied the same bed, or slept in the same room, or that he had sexual intercourse with them.

It is the practice of unlawful cohabitation with more than one woman, that is aimed at, a cohabitation classed with polygamy and having its outward semblance. It is not on the one hand meretricious unmarital intercourse with more than one woman—general meretricious unmarital intercourse with more than one woman—general legislation as to lewil practices is left to the Territorial Government—nor on the other hand does the statute pry into the intimacies of the marriage relation, but it seeks not only to punish bigamy and polygamy when direct proof of the existence of these relations can be made but to relations can be made, but to prevent a man from flaunting in the face of the world the estentation and opportunities of a bigamous household with all the ontward appearances of the continuance of the same relations which existed before the act was passed and without reference to what may occur in the privacy of those relations. * * * And again, in the spirit of the inter-Figure 1 Sound We acknowledge the receipt of he holds two women out to the sample copies of a new song entitled, world as his wives, by his conduct. The opinion gives Webster's definition of the word "cohabit," and says Section 3 of the act was intended to reach the exhibition of all indicia of marriage a household and a family twice repeated. W. R. Decamp was arrangued in the Police Court yesterday, charged with the emberglement of a saddle, the property of Lieutenant Burnham, of Fort Donglas. Decamp pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to a fine of $30, or in lieuthereof sixty days upon the public works. He will beautify the streets for a couple of months?

Sof the act was a finition of all indicia of many period and a family twice repeated. It does not allege that the defendant was a male person, nor that he cohabited with two women as his wives, or as persons held out as wives, are overruled under the criminal proceedure act of Utah, defendant having pleaded and not demurred, and oring held to have not demurred, and oring held to have Morton and carson, who were under indictment for burglary, will plead to-morrow morning. A. R. Heywood was appointed to defend them. Headerson, for grand largeny took advantage of the statutory lawful, further than that, man must not largely to the plant when H. H. In the conduct of the nusual wards them must be in order to conform to the requirement of the law. The law says no court can say in advance what particular state of things will be largely to the plant when H. H. In the conduct of the nusual conformation of the nusual conforma cohabit with more than one woman in the sense of the word "cohabit" as defined; while Congress had legitimatized the issue of polygamous marriages, born before January 1st, 1883, it had the issue of polygamous marriages, for before January 1st, 1883, it had left the conduct of the man towards the polygamous wife to be regulated by considerations which, outside of Section 3, are not covered by the statute and which must be dealt with judicially when properly presented. ented.

From the decision of the Court, Justices Miller and Field dissented. Justice Miller, in his dissention of the decision, said: "I think the act of Congress, when prohibiting conabitation with more than one woman, meant unlawful this in the control of t habitual sexual intercourse. It is in my opinion a strained construction of a highly penal statute to hold thus the men can be guilty under that statute, without the accompaniment of actual sexual connection. I know of no instance in which the word "combination" has been used to describe a criminal offense, when it did not imply sexual intercourse."

AMUSEMENTS.

ABOUND THE WORLD .- A thousand dollar house, which means parquette, dress circle and galleries choked with humanity, assembled at the Theatre last evening to witness the Kiralfys grand spetacular drama of Around the World in Eighty Days. We are doubtful how the Kiralfys would have us take their performance, whether as an entire burlesque, or whether they expect us to view the marvellous escapades of the heroes with the same sentiments of enthusiasm that we feel Washington, December 14.—The Supreme Court, to-day, affirmed the judgment of the Supreme Court of Utah, in the case of Angus M. Cannon, plaintiff in error, against the United towards the central figure in the melodrama. If the latter, they expect too much; if the former, then assuredly never was a peformance more hilariously successful. The great feature of the show are first the elephant, second the ballet, third the Magnani troupe, and fourth the seement. except Miss Tracy, apparently being flung in to give the stage car penters time to work up the successive scenes. The elephant is the star of the company, and in some instances he was not very well supported, Miss Tracy's beauty and Mr. Peters detective being the best features of the acting. There was much guying of supers, and inevitably so. The Indians looked like pale muskrats, and Uncle Sam's mimic troops appeared as much out of place as his sure-enough ones do next door to Tak Herald office. There was something wrong with the scenes-many down on the bills were not shown at all. The stone pavers are little short of wonderful. Mile de Rosa is a beautiful dancer, and her solo in many places aldancer, and her solo in many places almost came up to the bewildering gyrations of the celebrated premiere Cavalazzi, who was here with Mapleson. She was ably supported by a dozen as lithe ballet girls as one of decreased by the condition of th loudly and deservedly encored. The grotesque dancing was also very clever, and Arnold took the galleries by storm. The singing of the three girls was worse than the sharpening of a file. How such execrable stuff could be permitted in a company of such repute is little in a company of such repute is little short of astounding. The performance goes again to-night. Those who attend the Theatre to get a good laugh, who admire beautiful scenery, see poetry in a forest of shapely limbs, have a weakness for the ballet generally and care nothing for consistency, will find much in Around the World to give them enjoyment.

EVIDENTLY A LUNATIC.

James Lyon Disturbs the Peace and Commits Larceny.

James Lyon appeared in the Police Court yesterday, as the defendant on two complaints-one charging him with disturbing the peace, and the other with larceny. He was tried on the pretation, a man cohabits with more first-named complaint first, and from than one woman, in Sections 3, 5 and 8 of the act, when holding out to the world two women as his wives, by language or conduct, or by both he lives in the honse with them and man named Jonathan Householder, man named Jonathan Householder, and awakening a member of the family, threatened to kill them all unless they assisted him in carrying a couple of audience at the Theatre on Friday audience at the Theatre on Friday For sale at A. He beat and abused several of the people present, obstreprous individual was escorted to the city jail. While in transit thereto, he was also very abusive, and used loud he was also very abusive, and used loud and threatening language toward the officers. Yesterday morning, he informed the jailor that he had given orders for his coffin, and would have it ready in a short time. On being brought into court at 2 o'clock yesterdap he had evidently embodied Pittis Sing's advice that the word for his guid nee was "muin." He refused to plead, or to answer any questions propounded to him, and it became very evident to on-lookers that Lyon was of the trains had just started to side.

A collision between two fast freight trains, numbers 19 and 20, occurred on the U. P. at a small station east of the U. P. at pounded to him, and it became very evident to on-lookers that Lyon was either non-compos mentis, or else suffering from the effects of a long spree. His bloodshot eyes roamed aimlessly around the room, and he seemed to be as oblivious to his surroundings as though in a dream. The testimony in reference to his offense was clear and concise, and he was adjudged guilty as chornel.

to his offense was clear and concise, and he was adjudged guilty as charged.

The second offense was the stealing of the wine and brandy from Mrs. Mary It. Canham, and the theft was plainly proven. The Judge indulged in a short lecture to the culprit, in which he said that he could think of nothing much more despicable than a theft of this kind—the stealing of home-made wine and brandy which a poor old widow woman had made for her own use. Lyon was also adjudged guilty on the train, sprained his ankle. No further damage was done—0. D.
